THE GUNMEN'S DEFENCE IN

Dago Frank is Guiltless, Too, He Says

ATTEMPT TO ESTABLISH ALIBI

Was Far from the Scene of the Murder—Went Home for Fear a Friend Would Worry About Him.

New York, Nov. 16.—The case for the defense in the trial of the gunmen accused of killing gambler Rosenthal was completed yesterday. Nearly a dozen witnesses testified in support of the gunmen's claim that the informers, Vallon and Webber, and a mysterious stranger fired the fatal shots; that "Gyp the Blood," "Lefty Louie," and "Whitey" Lewis were on the scene only as innocent spectators, and that "Dago Frank" was not there at all.

"Dago Frank" gave the alibi—that he left the three gunmen in Webber's poker room just after the mysterious stranger invited them to go to the Metropole to see Jack Rose. He swore he went to the home of his girl, Jean Gordon, but found she had been arrested and went to the police station to bail her out, where he learned of the Rosenthal murder.

An old woman selling papers near the Metropole corroborated the gunmen's stories of Thursday, saying she saw four men fitting the description of Rose, Schepps, Webber and Vallon do the shooting at the Metropole, and did not see the four defendants there at all.

Other witnesses testified to seeing Webber running from the scene of the murder, and seeing Vallon at the Metropole entrance 15 minutes before the shooting.

Rose, Vallon, Webber and Schepps were brought into court and the gunmen turned in their coats. Sneers and savage glances passed between the two quartets who faced each other in one room for the first time since their arrest.

The informers will be called in rebuttal today. It is expected the case will be in the jury's hands by Tuesday.

WOMEN SHOULD BE PROTECTED

Against So Many Surgical Operations. How Mrs. Bothune and Mrs. Moore Escaped.

Sikeston, Mo.—"For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."—Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

Murrayville, Ill.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a very bad case of female trouble and it made me a well woman. My health was all broken down, the doctors said I must have an operation, and I was ready to go to the hospital, but dreaded it so that I began taking your Compound. I got along so well that I gave up the doctors and was saved from the operation."—Mrs. CHARLES MOORE, R. R. No. 3, Murrayville, Ill.

Hunter Who Jumped from Train and Broke Ankle, Had Leg Amputated.

The man who gave his name as James Brown, who was found beside the track at Montpelier Junction yesterday morning with a broken ankle, where he had evidently jumped from the train, had his leg amputated above the ankle at Heaton hospital yesterday. It is alleged that the man was from Winooski. He has been unable to give much of an account of the accident. The fracture was a bad one and the bones protruded through the skin.

Mrs. Esther M. Gero, who had been a resident of this city the greater part of her life, died yesterday at Heaton hospital at the age of 79 years. Mrs. Gero was born in St. Johns, P. Q., April 29, 1833. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Georgianna Gauthier, with whom she had lived the past year, Emma of Burlington and Mrs. F. H. Hall of this city, and two sons, George W. of Denver, Col., and Henry E. of Rutland. The funeral is to be held from St. Augustine's church Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The Eureka Vending Machine company of Burlington has filed articles of association with the secretary of state. The company has a capital stock of $50,000 and the Burlington factory will supply only New York trade, the Vermont end of the business being supplied from the factory at St. Johnsbury. Fifty men will be employed at first and the vending machines manufactured will include sanitary cups, candy, gum, etc.

Successful Montpelier hunters thus far in the deer season are reported to be George Refor, who secured a 160-pound buck yesterday forenoon near the Lackey farm and John Boyce, who secured one in Moretown.

Further investigation of the damage resulting from the breaking of the hydrant at the corner of Main and School streets Thursday showed that it would not exceed $250. None of the store basements suffered any from the water. When the water gushed forth from the broken hydrant, the decayed body of a muskrat was thrown several feet into the air.

In a report just issued by the Kellogg-Hubbard library, it is stated that during 1911 the Sunday afternoon opening of the library resulted in a total attendance of 3,555 persons, mostly men. The circulation for the year 1911 was 61,967.

Robert Hichens and Jules Guerin.

Robert Hichens, the novelist, whose interpretation of the eastern character has never been equalled, is writing for The Century for 1913 a new travel series, "From the Adriatic to the Bosphorus," which is especially timely in view of the state of war now prevailing throughout that region. Jules Guerin will illustrate these articles in color. Those who recall Mr. Hichens' pen and Mr. Guerin's brush in The Century articles on Egypt and the Holy Land can imagine the treat in store for them in this new and very timely series. Another travel series of a different sort to be found in The Century for 1913 will be "The Trade of the World Papers" which are continue by James Davenport Whelpley. In the November number, now on sale, which begins The Century's new year, Mr. Whelpley reviews the trade of northern Africa. Articles on China, Japan, Russia, and Canada will follow.
